Blind Golf Scotland

Scottish Blind Golf Society

The driving force behind blind golf in Scotland since 1982

Patrons: Andrew Coltart, Sir Sean Connery, Sandy Lyle MBE, Paul Lawrie, Alan Rough.

Do you know someone who is no longer able to play golf due to failing eyesight, visual impairment, partial sight or blindness?

Blind Golf Scotland are looking for new members

Can you no longer follow the ball or do you know someone who can't?

Would you still like to play golf or know someone who does?

If so, please get in touch

Playing with Blind Golf Scotland gives members the chance to play against other blind or visually impaired golfers competing on a level playing field

- The golfer with impaired vision requires to arrange for a guide to help them
- Events take place across Scotland, the rest of the UK and abroad
- Scotland plays against Ireland, England & Wales in Ryder Cup style competitions
- Player/guide competitions also take place at all Scottish events
- Coaching can be arranged
- All genders and all ages welcome
- Don't forget the socialising at the 19th hole - a great way to make new friends, get/keep fit and enhance wellbeing by getting fresh air in good company.
