

Blind Golf Scotland

The driving force behind blind golf in Scotland since 1982

Information Sheet

The Society

Blind Golf Scotland (BGS), previously known as The Scottish Blind Golf Society, has been going now for over 30 years, providing help for blind and partially sighted people around Scotland. The main aim is to encourage a sporting activity for people who have encountered sight loss, with all the benefits that this brings.

Membership of the Society provides a structured programme of golf events and a network of friendship around the country. It works equally for existing players wanting to maintain their interest in golf or to provide a fresh sporting opportunity for people with visual impairment. Whether it be social or competitive, we are pleased to welcome members of all ages and genders.

Members and Activities

We have members of all ages and varying golfing abilities. Our handicap system extends way out to 54 to support inclusion for all. We have social events, serious competitions and even an annual Ryder Cup-style battle with the Auld Enemy as we put together a twelve-player Scotland team. We organise many types of events with fun days and player/guide competitions. Our society is a registered Scottish charity, recognised and supported by the R&A.

Playing with BGS

The only real stipulation for membership is that you must be registered blind or partially sighted with your local authority or Society for the Blind. The rest takes care of itself. A real bonus, however, is if you have a friend or family member who can come along and act as your `guide' to help you around the course.

We play the game strictly to the Rules of Golf with some minor modifications authorised by the Royal & Ancient Golf Club of St Andrews. For example, we may ground our club in a hazard.

We have been very fortunate to be granted courtesy of the course at dozens of quality venues, and the support we have been given by the clubs over the years has been simply magnificent. You are warmly invited to come along to an event and meet the members. At many of our events, we offer a chance for you to 'have a go' with the help of a qualified professional. Please let us know if and when you are coming, so that we can organise ourselves to welcome you properly.

Having a sight problem doesn't make golf out of bounds!

If you would like to find out more about BGS membership or volunteer opportunities as a sighted guide, you can get in touch with us via our website or email our Development Officer at developmentofficer@scottishblindgolf.com.

Our website will help you to get a flavour of the range of events and activities of the society. There is also information in the 'Join Us' section about becoming a member.
